

Call for application:

EUR ArChal

Master certification (1st year)

The Graduate School of Research EUR ArChal is launching an application call for Master training certification for the academic year 2021-2022. A maximum of 15 students will be selected.

Presenting the EUR ArChal in a few words

EUR ArChal is led by the University of Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne and partnered by seven academic institutions in France and in Europe. It aims to develop original teaching and research projects on archaeological methods and on research topics related to global challenges. Based on the diachronic analysis of strategies adopted in the past for addressing global challenges, the EUR ArChal will provide an entirely new knowledge framework on these questions. Its broad ambition is to build on our understanding of the past in order to develop sustainable strategies for facing future challenges.

The training and research programme focuses, on the one hand, on cutting-edge archaeological methods. It deals, on the other hand, with the following four major challenges:

- 1: Environment and climate change
- 2: Power and inequalities
- 3: Conflicts, mobility and migrations
- 4: Technologies and innovation

For more information on the EUR ArChal and its challenges, see the website <http://eur-archal.fr/>

EUR training and certification

Students already enrolled at the partner institutions will receive additional training to complement their first year Master degree: courses, workshops, hands on courses and summer schools.

This training will be scheduled as follows: an inauguration day in November 2021 in Paris; a week of intensive training in January 2022 in Paris (methods and Challenge 2, Power and inequalities); a week of intensive training in May 2022 (methods and Challenge 4, Technologies and innovation).

The detailed program will be provided in September. Mobility grants will enable students to participate in internships, in the Summer School or in the training courses provided by the partner institutions. Mobility grants will enable students from partner universities to participate in courses in Paris.

Once the M1 training has been validated, the students will be able to continue training for the second year of their Master degree (academic year 2022-2023).

A specific EUR ArChal university diploma (DU) will be awarded by the University of Paris 1 Panthéon Sorbonne, specifically as a certificate of competence that will be added to the Master diploma awarded by each partner university.
